There are three main activation methods supported: KMS activation, HWID activation, and KMS38 activation to meet the needs of different users. In addition, all major editions/versions of Microsoft Windows, Server, and Office software products are fully supported. Current tests have shown KMSOffline activation effect is very good! First, using kms activation mode makes Windows/Office activation more stable. Second, operating KMSOffline is very easy - one-click activation. In addition, almost all windows desktop, server, and office products can be activated. The activation action can be performed through an embedded KMS service or by a public server on the Internet/LAN. supports the installation of GVLK keys for all Windows products; Allows the user to view information relevant to activation (including system, SKU ID, expiration date, etc.). offers multiple start parameters and more. KMSOffline has minimal settings so that inexperienced users can easily activate Microsoft Windows, Server, or Office products and obtain a licensed product with a standard key. The activation process is carried out by the built-in KMS service or by a server on the Internet/LAN. The install KMS service option installs a KMS server emulator on the system to activate the Microsoft product locally and automatically. Advanced boot parameters // Key Description / win = act Runs the program in hidden mode, activates Windows and closes the program. / ofs = act Run the program in hidden mode, activate Office and exit the program. / NoSound Run the program in stealth mode and activate it without sound effects.
